

First EDELNet online PhD Conference

on Climate Change, Public Control and Human Rights: Legal Scholarship in the Face of Current Global Challenges

13 October 2022, online

Legal scholarship is called to play an important role in the way liberal democracies understand and respond to current existential challenges like the ones posed by climate change, economic globalization and systemic human rights violations. By exploring and debating today's PhD researchers' work we are also listening to the voices and conversing with the minds that will define the way our societies will respond to those challenges in the future.

The EDELNet+ PhD Training Programme is delighted to present its first online PhD Conference. In this one-day virtual event, 12 PhD researchers from Europe, Africa, America and Asia will present their work and will discuss the implications of their substantive and methodological approaches with senior scholars from the EDELNet+ Programme and the audience.

The conference will be held on Zoom. Participation is open and free. No registration is required. Participants can use the same link below to access all virtual sessions:
